Introduction

This Word Index to Strabo contains in alphabetical order all words of the Greek text of Στράβωνος Γεωγραφικά as printed in the first four volumes of Stefan Radt's Strabons Geographika (Göttingen, Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht: Band 1, 2002, Books I–IV, 2–551; Band 2, 2003, Books V–VIII, 2–545; Band 3, 2004, Books IX–XIII, 2–661; Band 4, 2005, Books XIV–XVII, 2–553), including all corrections of the Greek text, the apparatus criticus and the Appendix apparatus critici, as collected in the 'Gesamtverzeichnis der Korrigenda', Band 10, 2011, 563–607.¹

'All words of the Greek text' means the Greek text of Strabo as a whole including the fragments of Book VII and all citations made by Strabo in his text. In the index the fragments of Book VII are characterized by F, e.g., Ἀβδήροις F 18a,14, and the citations by the symbol ‡ with the source of the citation added, e.g., ὀβίους 296,14‡ (N 6) or ἁπίαν 371,29‡ (Str.). All words occurring in the fragments of Book VII and in the citations have also been listed separately on pp. 737–756 (Fragmenta) and 757–824 (Citations).

The words are cited according to the pages of the edition of Casaubonus (Strabonis Rerum geographicarum libri XVII, Lutetiae Parisiorum 1620) as numbered in Radt's edition, e.g., πραγματείας 1,1 Band 1, p. 2. Adding the conventional chapter and paragraph numbers (cp. Band 1, p. XVI sub 4. 'Gliederung') would have meant doubling the size of the index; on pp. 1061–1064 (Chapters & Paragraphs), however, a concordance has been added of the pages of Casaubonus and the conventional chapters and paragraphs, which makes it possible to find quite easily to what chapter and paragraph the words belong, e.g., Casaubonus 1,1–2,10 = Book 1, Chapter 1, paragraph 1.

Apart from basic distinctions as, e.g., πρὸς adv., πρὸς + gen., πρὸς + dat., πρὸς + acc., no syntactical distinctions at all have been made within the lemmata. Basically, it is simply an alphabetical list of words (with the sole exception of ἄν + ind. II, ἄν + inf., ἄν + opt., ἄν + ptc., ἄν (ὥς), ἄν(ὥς) ἄν (εἰ), ἄν = ἑάν). In the case of the particles δέ and καί and the article the result is a long series of pages with numbers only. Not to overburden the index too much, these three lemmata have been listed separately at the end of the index proper, i.e., δέ and δ' on pp. 627–646 (Index δέ), καί on pp. 647–670 (Index καί), and the article on pp. 671–736 (Index ὁ, ἡ, τό). Tedious though these lists may be, they do contain all information about these words given in the apparatus criticus, and as such are useful.

The lemmatization is effected quite simply by indentation: each lemma opens with a word with the other words belonging to the same lemma following indented, e.g., Ἄβυδος opens the lemma of Ἄβυδος and Ἀβύδου, Ἀβύδω, Ἄβυδον follow indented; ἄβιοι opens the lemma of ἄβιος and ὀβίους follows indented; ἄγει opens the lemma of ἄγω and ἄγουσι etc. follow indented; βούλει opens the lemma of βούλομαι and βούλεται etc. follow indented. In the case of the adjective the masculine, feminine and neuter forms are also distinguished by means of indentation, e.g., ἀγαθός, ἀγαθή, ἀγαθοῦ nt., as are the tense and aspect forms of the verb, i.e., present, future, aorist, perfect, e.g., ποιεῖ, ποιήσει, ἐποίησε, πεποίηκε. Again, adding a lemma such as, e.g., ἄβιος in the case of ἄβιοι or ἄγω in the case of ἄγει would have added too much to the size of the index. Furthermore, no word counts have been added to the lemmata.

The alphabetization is effected as follows:

- nouns are alphabetized according to the nominative singular, e.g., Ἄβαντος (Ἄβας) between Ἄβαρις and ὀβάτων; ἄγροῦ (ἀγρός) before ἀγροτεράων.
- adjectives are alphabetized according to the masculine nominative singular, e.g., ἀγραύλους (ἀγραυλος) after ἀγραυλοῦσιν (ἀγραυλέω).
- verbs are alphabetized according to the first person singular of the present indicative, e.g., ἄγει (ἄγω) between (ἄγχω) and ἀγωγῆς, ἀδικοῖντο (ἀδικέω) between ἀδιάφορα and ἀδικημάτων, εἰμί between εἵμασιν and εἶμι, βούλει (βούλομαι) between βουληφόρε and βουνοειδές; thematic aorists are alphabetized according to the infinitive, e.g., ἐρεῖ (εἰπεῖν) between εἰνοσίφυλλον and εἵπερ, μολών (μολεῖν) between μοιχός and μολιβοῦς, πέφνε (πεφνεῖν) between Πευκολαίτις and πεφροντισμένως, πόρε (πορεῖν) between πορείας and πορεύεσθαι.
- in cases of elision the word is alphabetized according to the form without elision, e.g., ἄγχ' (ἄγχι) between ἀγγέμαχοι and Ἀγχιάλη.

Toponyms and ethnonyms are placed after the corresponding adjective or noun, e.g., Ἄγριος after ἄγριος or Ἀβίων after ἄβιοι.

Nouns are cited in a fixed order:

- masculine: singular: nominative, genitive, dative, accusative; plural: nominative, genitive, dative, accusative; feminine: sg.: nom., gen., dat., acc.; pl.: nom., gen., dat., acc.; neuter: sg.: nom., gen., dat., acc.; pl.: nom., gen., dat., acc.

Adjectives are cited in a fixed order:

- masculine: singular: nominative, genitive, dative, accusative; plural: nominative, genitive, dative, accusative; feminine: sg.: nom., gen., dat., acc.; pl.: nom., gen., dat., acc.; neuter: sg.: nom., gen., dat., acc.; pl.: nom., gen., dat., acc.

Adverbs are listed at the end of the corresponding adjective, e.g., ἀδίκως at the end of the lemma ἄδικον; if the adjective does not occur, they are listed at the place where the adjective would have been listed, if it did occur, e.g., ἀδεῶς of the adjective ἀδεής between Ἄδαδα and ἀδείας.

Comparatives and/or superlatives are cited at the end of the corresponding adjective, e.g., ὑψηλότερας etc. and ὑψηλοτάτων etc. at the end of the lemma ὑψηλός.

Verbs are cited in a fixed order:

- active present: indicative, subjunctive, optative, imperative, infinitive, participle, imperfect; middle/passive present: ind., subj., opt., imper., inf., ptc., imperf.;
- active future: ind., opt., inf., ptc.; middle future: ind., opt., inf., ptc.; passive future: ind., inf., ptc.;
- active aorist: ind., subj., opt., imper., inf., ptc.; middle aorist: ind., subj., opt., inf., ptc.; root aorist: ind., subj., opt., inf., ptc.; passive aorist: ind., subj., opt., inf., ptc.;
- active perfect: ind., opt., inf., ptc., pluperfect; middle/passive perfect: ind., imper., inf., ptc., pluperfect.

When there are compounds of the verb, at the end of the lemma of the simple verb a reference (→) is given to the compounds, e.g., at the end of ἄγω: → ἄν-, ἄπ-, δι-, εἰς-, ἐν-, ἐξ-, ἐπ-, κατ-, μετ-, παρ-, προ-, προσ-, συν-, ὑπ-; whenever the simple verb does not occur, a lemma in parentheses of the simple verb is added, e.g., (ἀγρυπνέω) → δι-.

The verbal adverbs are listed in alphabetical order as a separate lemma, with a cross-reference (→) at the end of the verb from which they are derived:

ἀνειμένως (ἀνίημι). ἀπεφεισμένως (ἀποφείδομαι). ἀποχρόντως (ἀπόχρη). ἀρκούντως (ἀρκέω). δεόντως (δεῖ). διαφρόντως (διαφέρω). διηλλαγμένως (διαλλάττω). εἰκότως (εἶοικα). ἐπιτετιμημένως (ἐπιτέμνω). ἐρρωμένως (ῥώννυμι). ἐσπουδασμένως (σπουδάζω). ἐψευσμένως (ψεύδομαι). ἡρμοσμένως (ἁρμόζω). κεχαρισμένως (χαρίζομαι). λεληθότως (λανθάνω). μαχομένως (μάχομαι). ὁμολογουμένως (ὁμολογέω). ὄντως (εἰμί). πεπλανημένως (πλανάομαι). πεφροντισμένως (φροντίζω). προηγουμένως (προηγέομαι). συγκεχυμένως (συγχέω). τεταγμένως (τάττω). ὑπερβαλόντως (ὑπερβάλλω).

All information about the paradosis, i.e., about the Haupthandschriften: A, B, C, D, E, F, P, X, Π, the Sekundäre Handschriften: a, g, h, i, j, k, l, m, n, o, q = ed. pr., s, t, v, w, y, z, and the Testimonien: Anon. Scor., Anon. Urb., Eust., Greg., hyp., Plan., Pletho, Psell., St. B., syn., as printed by Radt in the apparatus criticus and in the Appendix apparatus critici (Band 1, pp. 553–563, Band 2, pp. 546–557, Band 3, pp. 662–680, Band 4, pp. 554–571), is added in the index. All information about modern scholars and their work on the text is omitted in the index (but see further below, on the Index of Scholars).

In order to make the various kinds of information contained by the apparatus criticus optimally accessible, a system of symbols is used; full lists of all the instances of these different categories are provided after the index proper on pp. 737–982 (see further below). The symbols are used in two different ways:

(a) the symbol has reference to a particular word or series of words:

- F: all words occurring in the fragments of Book VII (Band 2, pp. 342–387) are preceded by the symbol F, e.g., ἦν F 1a,1; see Fragmenta pp. 737–738 for a list of the fragments and pp. 739–756 for a list of the words occurring in the fragments.
- ‡: all words occurring in citations are followed by the symbol ‡: there are two kinds of citation: words or short passages between inverted comma's ('...', e.g., 'δῖχθ' ἀ δεδαίεται' 3,16‡), and longer passages printed as separate centered blocks of text (e.g., ἀλλά ... ἀνίησι 3,3–8‡); see Citations pp. 757–

765 for a list of the citations, pp. 766–791 for a list of the citations differentiated according to authors/sources, pp. 792–824 for a list of the words occurring in the citations. This list of citations is not identical to the list provided by Radt in Band 10, 2011, Register, III. ‘Von Strabon zitierte Stellen anderer Autoren’, pp. 337–392, because there Radt also includes citations in the text that are not explicitly distinguished by means of ‘...’ or separate centered blocks of text, e.g. 67,7 Ἐν δὲ τῷ τρίτῳ τῶν Γεωγραφικῶν (fr. III A 2 Berger).

- *: words occurring in direct speech are followed by the symbol*, e.g., χαῖρε 220,27* Θετταλῶν τινοὺς ἀντὶ τοῦ ἀποκρίνασθαι προσαγορεύσαντος αὐτὸν ‘χαῖρε’; see Citations pp. 790–791 for a list of instances of direct speech and pp. 822–823 for a list of the words occurring in direct speech.
- §: the symbol § is used to distinguish words that occur in passages where Bv BC E X Σ Hom. have a different text, e.g., γραφῆς 103,24§ περὶ τῆς γραφῆς τῆς Κρατητείου: περὶ τῆς κρατητείου γραφῆς E; for a list see Bv BC E X Σ Hom. p. 825.
- ‘...’: the symbol ‘...’ is used to distinguish words that are omitted in the shortened mss. BC in Books VIII–IX, e.g. ‘τε’ 1332,8’; for a list see Omissa in decurtatis BC VIII–IX pp. 826–830.
- (om.): is used to distinguish words that are omitted in various mss.: whenever the omission is mentioned in the apparatus criticus, the line number is put in parentheses, e.g. νῦν (1,2) (νῦν om. B), but whenever the omission is mentioned in the Appendix apparatus critici, the line number is not put in parentheses, e.g., ἀνδρῶν 3,15‡ (α 23) (15–16 ἔσχατοι—δεδαίαται om. B); for a list see Omissa in variis codicibus pp. 837–846.
- {...}: the symbol {...} is used to distinguish words attested in one or more of the secondary mss. that are printed in the text, e.g., ἀπέφαινε {2,21}: ἀπέφαινε gijp: ἀπέφ[A, ἀπέφ[]νε C, ἀπεμφοαίνε B, ἀπέφηνε (sic) qv, ed. pr.; for a list see Codices secundarii pp. 847–856.
- (...): variant readings are added in parentheses (...): whenever the variant reading is mentioned in the apparatus criticus, the line number is put in parentheses, e.g., ἀνθρώπεια (2,5) ἀνθρώπινα a; whenever the variant reading is mentioned in the Appendix apparatus critici (Band 1, pp. 553–563; Band 2, pp. 546–557; Band 3, pp. 662–680; Band 4, pp. 554–571), the line number is not put in parentheses, e.g., 2,28 προσέβαλλεν (προσέβαλεν B); for a list see Variae lectiones pp. 857–924.
- [...]: the symbol [...] is used to distinguish words that are the result of an emendation, e.g., ποιεῖ [4,4] ποιεῖ Miller: ποιεῖται codd., or suppletion, e.g., [τα]ύτη [F 5a,1] suppl. Kramer; for a list see Emendata and Suppleta pp. 925–947 and 947–948.
- <...>: the symbol <...> is used to distinguish words that are inserted in the text, e.g., <δὲ> 2,32 add. Cobet; for a list see Inserta pp. 949–950.
- ≤: the symbol ≤ is used to distinguish a word or a series of words that is uplicated in (one of the) mss., e.g., ἄκρα nt. acc. 71,25≤ τὰ ἄκρα duplicat B; for a list see Duplicata p. 953.
- ≥: the symbol ≥ is used to distinguish a word or a series of words that is iterated, e.g., ἐκρύσεως 50,11≥ 13 post ὅν verba 11 ἐκρύσεως—13 ὅν iterat P; for a list see Iterata p. 953.
- P: the symbol P is used to distinguish cases where a word or a series of words is positioned in a different way in one or more mss., e.g., μίαν 56,15P μίαν ante θάλατταν collocat iq; for a list see Collocata p. 953.

Although an alphabetical list of Testimonia is provided in Band 10, 2011, IV. Testimonien, pp. 393–451, a list of testimonia following the text would appear to be useful too; this list is given under List of Testimonia pp. 983–1000; it is followed by an alphabetical list of the testimonia that are explicitly mentioned in the apparatus criticus on pp. 1001–1006 (Testimonia in text).

Although information on the modern scholars who have worked on the text of Strabo and their bibliographical details (cp. Band 5, 2006, 'Abgekürzt zitierte Literatur', pp. 3–44) has been restricted to a bare minimum (e.g., in the case of emendations where the name of the scholar who made the emendation is mentioned by name), on pp. 995–1048 (Scholars) a full list in alphabetical order of the scholars named in the apparatus criticus is given. Under each scholar the instances where he/she is mentioned are arranged according to the various categories as distinguished in the list of symbols above. Place numbers in bold type indicate instances where the intervention of the scholar is realized in the text printed by Radt, e.g., under H.L. Ahrens: Emendata: 411,24 (Alc. fr. 325,2) ἄ ποι means that in 411,24 the emendation ἄ ποι for ἄ πο in ms. A was made by Ahrens and is printed in the text, whereas under the same scholar: Suppleta: 373,9 means that the suppletion of τῆς Ἑρμιονίδος? proposed there by Ahrens is not printed in the text which prints τῆς Ἑρμιόνης] of ms. n; or, under Wolfgang Aly 1956: Codices secundarii: 658,20 ἄμα τῷ τοῦ i means that here Aly (as Korais, Cobet and Charitonidis) follows the reading of ms. i instead of α[.....]ου of ms. P or ἄμα τοῦ of mss. BCDF or ἄμα τῷ of ms. q; or, under J. Alberti: Codices secundarii: 550,3 (Kuster ap. Alberti) means that a conjecture by L. Kuster there is to be found in the Hesychii Lexicon of Alberti. For scholars such as Casaubonus, Korais or Radt these lists are dauntingly long; on the other hand, this list makes it easily possible, for instance, to collect all emendations of a particular scholar.

All in all, the sole purpose of this index is to open up the stupendous work Stefan Radt has done on Strabo's Geographika, in particular to make the exact Wortlaut of the Greek text and all that pertains to it easily accessible and thus to provide a scholarly tool to facilitate research on the text of Strabo.

Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht kindly provided an extra set of the first four text-volumes, thus greatly facilitating my work on Strabo. The Index is published here with their kind permission.

Inevitably, in a work of this size, errors will occur. Hopefully, there are not too many of them.
